

Why join EMADU?

- Benefit from international level training provided by UEMF teacher-researchers, the University of Florence, partner universities and by prominent architects, urban planners, landscapers and international designers; while getting involved in design, planning, heritage rehabilitation and design projects.
- Acquire knowledge according to the “Living Laboratory” formula by using the Millennial City of Fez as a laboratory to support lessons related to vernacular architecture, sustainable planning, soft mobility and know-how in the construction trades , crafts and research
- Evolve in a multicultural and multidisciplinary environment with students from origins (Europe, MENA zone, Africa, etc.) and of various training as well as international educational and administrative staff.
- Master at least 2 languages in addition to the mother tongue. Certification (English, French, Italian, Spanish, Arabic...)

