FSHS PRESENTATION

The creation of the Faculty of Human and Social Sciences (FSHS) testifies to the desire of the Euromed University of Fez to contribute to the training for the country and the African and Mediterranean region of high-level executives in the field of social development.

The great specificity of the FSHS is to have not only chosen to train in the mastery of these skills, but also to favor the acquisition of trades and know-how allowing its graduates to be actors of progress, contributors to the emergence of values of emancipation and creation of wealth.

MOBILITY AND EXCHANGES

A good number of our students are currently on international mobility for study periods (at the Bachelor's and Master's levels) ranging from six months to a year, in particular at the University of Paris 1 Panthéon Sorbonne.

Our Faculty, with the support of the university, makes mobility, which is an essential vector of openness and enrichment, an essential option in the training of its students, particularly the most deserving among them.
